SOLUTION BRIEF

Reltio Identity 360
One Person. One Profile. One Connected Experience.
Don’t let fragmented customer data disrupt a great customer experience. Identity 360 provides a quick and easy way to deduplicate and manage customer identities for connected customer journeys.

With the proliferation of several engagement channels and business operations systems, your customers, guests, or members lives in diverse and siloed enterprise systems. The multiple unreliable versions lead to disjointed customer interactions, duplicated efforts, and disappointing experience. This results in customer churn, revenue leakage, and possible exposure to regulatory compliance risks. We believe data should fuel your success, not hold you back.

Identity 360 brings all the Person data together from various internal and external sources in real-time to create One Profile. You can now hyper-personalize your customer touchpoints with One Profile, to deliver the omnichannel experience that matters. Business users can segment and engage with personalize targeting when and where your prospects are most likely to engage along the sales funnel.
